Hit it hard song lyrics

My English teacher performed in class today. The song he played was acoustic and it was great! I want to know for myself, but I won't see him until next Monday. We talked about the lyrics, the sleaz brakes and the glass breaking and the screams of people or something. Then he starts talking about his love. Do any of you know the song? Take a deep breath and go back to the middle school dance and try to remember how this happened. Anyone who is a pre-teen probably remembers the odd slow dance, new tank-tops from the mall, and shouting throughout every word of the pop-radio hit. Songs from the late '90s and early 2000s may now seem like a distant memory, but back then, many of them were iconic. Looking back on the period, there are some lyrics that you've completely forgotten existed so far. Each time and for a while one of these songs will play in a clothing store or on a radio or ironic party playlist, and these words will bring back right that middle school auditorium. Various genres developed in the late 90s and early aughts, and both decades had a period of growth for alt-rock, rap and hip-hop and pop music. While some more popular songs weren't exactly genres or experimenting in new ways, they were certainly fun. Whether it's Anna Nalick's soft rock or one of Enrique Inglesias' slow dance staples, you may have forgotten some of these tunes. For better or worse, there's nothing like the present to re-listen and remember these words that shaped their teenage years. 1Too Little, Too Late — JoJoLong was penning JoJo pop break-up hits before declaring that Taylor Swift would never be reunited with her ex. Every seventh grader certainly listened to this after leaving a middle school, everyone now knows that cafeteria or group dates mean sitting together in movies. Things were tough back then. Memorable Lyrics: I'll say it now/Your luck has come and gone/And you know/Too little, too late/A little too long/And I can't wait 2Just the Girl — Click FiveAtlantic Records on YouTube If you've forgotten, the protagonist's love of this song is based on 100 evidence-proof attitudes. He is, therefore, still aspirational after all these years. Memorable Lyrics: Because he's bittersweet /He knocks me down / And I can't help myself / I don't want anyone else 3Nex Time — SemisonicThis is a hit that doesn't ring a bell in a moment of curiosity, playing piano notes will come back to you as soon as possible. The film is everywhere from the opening credits to the background of the 2000s fave television show, and even now it's a hard song to escape. Memorable Words: Closing time/Every boy and every girl/Closing time/One last call for alcohol, to finish your whisky or beer/ Closing time/You don't have to go home but you can't stay here/I know I want to take me home. 4Big Girls Don't Cry — FergieThis song, it was a slow dance fiber from Fergie's first post-Black Eyed Peas track. Also, can we talk about what an absolute nostalgia festival this video is? Sugars product placement! Milo Ventimiglia's fake tattoos! When was 2006? Memorable Lyrics: And I'm going to miss as a kid misses their blanket / But I have to get a move into my life / Now it's time to be a big girl / And don't cry big girls 5I Gotta Feeling - Black Eyed PeasBlackEyedPeasVEVO YouTubeSpeaking of Fergie, who can forget hitting this super shot by the Black Eyed Peas? In 2009, that was the number one song for a night out. Memorable Lyrics: A feeling, woo-hoo, tonight will be a good night / Tonight will be a good night / Tonight will be a good night 6It's Be Be Me - depending on which big boy band the NSYNC2000s fave, it could be a childhood time when each NSYNC knew every word for the song. While Bye Bye Bye was the best known part of the band, for true fans, this song was just as important. Memorable Lyrics: Baby, when finally / Get to love someone / Guess ne / It's to be hiss 7Hand In My Pocket — Alanis MorissetteAlanis Morissette set of background music now the most Alanis songs on YouTube! It's time to take these off for arching purposes. It's hard to pick the singer's most valuable song, but that's definitely there. Memorable Lyrics: CLEARS THROAT IN ONE HAND, OTHER HIGH FeeE-III~VVVEEBreathe (02:00) — Anna Nalick Accept - this song is still getting emotional in 2017. Nalick's hit ballad is stuck around for some reason, as a few sad stories intertwine and bring it into a chorus of hearts. It's the perfect sad pop song. Memorable Words: 'Because we can't jump off the track, we're like cars on cable/And life is like hourglass, glued to the table/No one can find the rewind button, girl/So put your head in your hands and breathe... just breathe / Oh breath, just breathe 9Hero — Enrique Inglesias EnriqueInglesiasVEVO YouTubeThis song played every dance and other school event I went to in middle school and high school. There's so many weird slow dances shared in this song, I don't know if she's going to forget the lyrics, but maybe you did, too. Memorable Words: I can be your hero baby/kiss pain/I'll be with you forever 8ence Augustana has found out where they're going? The chorus of this song has gone all over the United States, and even after all this time, it's hard to forget this journey. Memorable Lyrics: I think I'm going to Go to Boston/I think I was tired/I think I need a new city/To put this behind me 11Irreplaceable — Beyoncé While we're all tilting Queen B for her last two albums, which is all by her masterpieces, you may have forgotten This radio hit the aughts early. Beyoncé's chart-toe hits have been huge, but this song was definitely everywhere the year it came out. Memorable Lyrics: Everything has in the left box / This thing in the closet, yes / I please touch 12Hey There Delilah - Plain White T's HollywoodRecordsVEVO YouTubeThe Plain White T's had a real moment with this track and bought that they would continue to be their only classic. Despite the state of one-hit curiosity of bands, this acoustic ballad was such a success, it may be far from completely forgotten. Memorable Lyrics: Hey there Delilah/ What's it like in New York?/I'm a thousand miles away/But girl, you look so beautiful tonight 13American Boy — Estelle Ft. Kanye WestThis had collabs as memorable as the song that it's hard to believe she might have disappeared in ten years. The John Legend video has a cameo, and shows a drop of verse from the very young Kanye West. This optimistic jam is a lot of fun, and it's definitely worth listening to again. Memorable Words: Take me on a trip, I want to go one day/Take me to New York, LA/I really want to kick with you/You're going to be my American son These songs were totally classic. Classic.
